About Bordier UK

Bordier & Cie (UK) PLC (Bordier UK) is a specialist wealth manager that can trace its London history back to 1981, when Berry Asset Management was established by current Executive Chairman, Jamie Berry. In 2001, the Bordier & Cie group formed a strategic alliance with Berry Asset Management, acquiring a stakeholding in the business. Since then, the relationship has deepened and broadened significantly, and in September 2014 the firm changed its name to Bordier & Cie (UK) PLC.

Bordier UK focuses on providing investment management services, including the management of funds for general investment accounts, ISAs, pensions, trusts and offshore bonds to financial advisers, lawyers, accountants, charities, family offices and other large institutions.

Several key characteristics set us apart from many of our competitors:

- We do not have any in-house funds or products which could compromise the impartiality of our services.
- The principals of the business as well as a number of our investment managers invest their own money alongside our clients.
- We take a global investment approach and consider a wide range of asset classes in our investment process.
- Our robust and repeatable centralised investment process ensures consistency of performance and risk management across client portfolios, risk profiles and services with no individual manager risk.
- We seek to anticipate change and position portfolios accordingly and believe that asset allocation adds more value than any other investment decision.
- We have a central Investment Committee with a wealth of investment experience in a wide variety of market conditions.

Bordier & Cie

Bordier & Cie is an independent private bank that has been managed by the Bordier family since 1844. They have built a dynastic reputation to become one of Switzerland's most reputable and highly regarded private banks, and like us, are devoted to private wealth management. Bordier Group assets under management as at 30 September 2017 are circa £9.3 billion.

The guiding principle of our entire group is very simple – we put our hearts and souls into it because we own the business and have no outside shareholder influence. Every bit of energy, ambition and natural ability that we possess is given to our business and our clients.

Managing risk

Successful investment management must acknowledge the risks that investors face when constructing and managing a portfolio. Risk is inevitable in investing and we cannot eliminate it entirely in the portfolios we manage. However, our robust investment process is designed to contain risk and volatility to acceptable levels, and to ensure that your portfolio is managed within the risk tolerance agreed with you and your advisers at the outset.

We take a global investment approach and consider a wide range of asset classes in our investment process. Our aim is to meet our clients' expectations without incurring undue risk. We appreciate that in most cases capital is not replaceable and great care must be taken to preserve it.

We seek to reduce risk through:

- Taking a multi-asset approach – We invest across a broad cross section of asset classes, many of which behave differently to the stockmarket as a whole.
- Having defined strategic allocation ranges in portfolios – Each portfolio is linked to an investment strategy with clearly defined allocation ranges for every asset class.
- Making active tactical decisions – We position portfolios to reflect anticipated changes.
- Investment in funds – We use funds in the construction of our portfolios rather than direct equities. We feel this is the best approach for our clients because the best talent tends to work in the funds industry and no one investment firm is good at everything. This approach also increases diversification, reduces overall risk in portfolios and enables us to implement asset allocation decisions quickly and efficiently.
