Investment update - May

The first four months of 2019 have seen portfolio values benefit from steadily rising equity markets, assisted by more accommodating monetary policy from central banks as well as the possibility of a trade deal between the US and China. Just six days into May, however, the US announced it would increase the tariff rate on $200 billion worth of Chinese imports from 10% to 25%, and that it may also impose a 25% tariff on the $300 billion worth of goods that remain. In retaliation, China raised tariffs on $60 billion in US goods, further escalating trade tensions and resulting in May being the first negative month of performance seen across global markets this year. Closer to home, Theresa May announced her resignation as Prime Minister, creating further uncertainty surrounding the UK's political climate and Brexit. During the month, our Investment Committee changed the make-up of our underlying funds within the Cautious strategy's alternative investments sector, introducing the Levendi Thornbridge Defined Return Fund to provide further diversification within the asset class. Our continued overweight position to the sector should be beneficial during times of global uncertainty, whilst the rest of the strategy remains positioned to take advantage of any longer-term market opportunities should they arise.
