Investment update - May

The relief rally in markets continued into May with risk assets recovering strongly since the heavy sell-off in Q1. Investors have seemingly become more hopeful that virus cases may have peaked in many key regions, which has led to daily and intra-day market volatility subsiding. Indeed, US markets continued to gain ground despite the release of weak economic data and US/China trade tensions resurfacing, finishing the month in positive territory for the year in sterling terms. However, concerns remain as lockdown restrictions begin to be relaxed, with investors particularly on the lookout for the virus' return in Asia. May saw an increase to our fixed interest exposure through the addition of the TwentyFour Corporate Bond fund. The fund targets the higher quality investment grade space, an area of the market we believe offers a relatively attractive yield with minimal default risk. Cash levels have been reduced as a result of the addition. Elsewhere in the strategy, our current equity exposure remains around neutral whilst our alternative funds continue to act as market stabilisers. There remains a focus on high levels of liquidity in everything that we own. As such, we continue with our zero-weight commercial property stance, which means we remain unaffected by funds in the sector gating. Our Investment Committee continue to meet frequently during these extraordinary times enabling decisive action to be taken when required.
