Investment update - September

Rising COVID-19 cases as well as questions over refreshed fiscal stimulus measures contributed to investor sentiment waning in September, as equity market returns around the world flattened in sterling terms. Indeed, the pace of economic recovery seems to be losing some momentum since the rebound in activity seen in the summer months. With winter around the corner, the outlook for markets continues to be cloaked in uncertainty and impacted by assumptions on the spread of COVID-19 and the potential for renewed lockdowns. There are some areas where greater longer-term opportunity seemingly exists, namely the US and Asian markets, as the benefits of geographic diversification come to the fore. With this in mind, our Investment Committee undertook a further redistribution of the strategy's equity exposure in September by reducing its allocation to the UK. The strategy retains a broadly neutral commitment to stockmarkets, which is in line with our longer-term strategic positioning. The asset allocation change means that circa 50% of clients' stockmarket exposure is allocated to the US and around 80% of equity investment is exposed to more vibrant economies and opportunities outside the UK.

Hybrid Passive Risk Targeted Managed Service

The service consists of five actively managed investment strategies, offering lower cost access to our discretionary fund management capabilities, through the combination of active and passive collective investments. The service provides a solution that, when cost considerations are paramount, does not compromise on quality. Investment strategies are monitored by our central Investment Committee to ensure consistency of performance from one portfolio to another. The service is available on the Aviva and Standard Life platforms.

Investment objective

To preserve capital in real (inflation-adjusted) terms over the medium to longer term. Investors should expect low levels of reward and a low correlation to stockmarket behaviour, including modest fluctuations in values.

Risk profile

The strategy is managed in accordance with Dynamic Planner risk profile 3, with the strategy's expected volatility targeted to stay within the assigned Dynamic Planner risk profile's boundaries.
