Investment update - January

After an excellent couple of months for markets to end 2023, returns were rather more mixed in January. Economic data in January was positive overall, particularly in the US where labour and GDP data again surprised on the upside. This positive economic news did, however, also trigger renewed uncertainty over the timing and extent of a potential reversal in interest rate policy. The dovish sentiment that prevailed at the end of last year was also dampened by some cautionary comments from the US Federal Reserve at their latest policy committee meeting. The more hawkish sentiment weighed on some areas of the equity markets, taking the edge off some of the recent strong rally. The strategy remains at the top end of its allowable equity range. Global stockmarket returns in 2023 were hugely distorted by the performance of a small handful of (principally US-listed 'mega cap') shares. However, a turn in the interest rate cycle may favour less-expensive, quality growth companies further down the market cap scale. Oscillating rhetoric on inflation and interest rates during 2023 has meant several false dawns for fixed interest investments however our phased re-introduction of risk within bond markets over the past 12 months was well rewarded at the end of last year. We have further increased our fixed interest duration through the addition of the Vanguard UK Long Duration Gilt Index fund where longer duration opportunities are more plentiful than credit markets at the expense of the residual defensive conventional and alternative fixed interest elements of the strategy.

Headline positioning

- The strategies remain at the top end of their allowable equity range as we remain broadly optimistic about the economic outlook for the second half of 2024.
- We have trimmed our commitment to the US market and some thematic funds in favour of exposure to Europe and an increased allocation to Japan (excluding Defensive) where opportunities have arisen.
- We continue to allocate to inflation-linked bond funds, actively managed strategic bond funds and 'market neutral' alternative investments, which continue to act as good portfolio stabilisers, diversifiers of risk and sources of return.
- Cash exposure remains low and there continues to be focus on high levels of liquidity in everything that we own.
