Investment update - February

February was a positive month overall for equity markets with all major developed market indices rising. Emerging markets also rose quite strongly. In contrast, most areas of the fixed income market fell over the month. The key positive driver for equities was a continued stream of better-than-expected earnings announcements, most notably in the US. The US economy also continues to prove resilient as manufacturing and labour data served to push the S&P 500 Index higher. European markets rose just under 3%, encouraged by some better economic data. The backdrop of unexpectedly resilient economic growth shaped a more hawkish view over the month, which put pressure on fixed income markets. We remain optimistic on the outlook for equities, which should be well supported by an improving earnings and economic outlook over the course of this year and into 2025. Therefore, no changes were made over the month as the strategy remains at the top end of its allowable equity range. We retain core allocations to the US and Asia, which we believe offer the prospect of superior economic and earnings growth looking ahead, however it is encouraging to see real strength from Japan, which we allocated to last year. We continue to look to skew portfolios to themes that we believe will enjoy superior levels of growth going forward, such as companies set to benefit from the structural growth in sustainable energy and from advances in artificial intelligence.

Headline positioning

- The strategies remain at the upper end of their allowable equity range as we remain broadly optimistic about the economic outlook for the second half of 2024.
- We have trimmed our commitment to the US market and some thematic funds in favour of exposure to Europe and an increased allocation to Japan (excluding Defensive) where opportunities have arisen.
- We continue to allocate to inflation-linked bond funds, actively managed strategic bond funds and 'market neutral' alternative investments, which continue to act as good portfolio stabilisers, diversifiers of risk and sources of return.
- Cash exposure remains low and there continues to be focus on high levels of liquidity in everything that we own.
