Investment objective

To build capital in real (inflation-adjusted) terms over the medium to longer term. Investors should expect reasonable correlation to stockmarket behaviour and rewards, including quite sharp fluctuations in values, but also some protection in times of market weakness.

Risk profile

The strategy is managed in accordance with Dynamic Planner risk profile 5, with the strategy's expected volatility targeted to stay within the assigned Dynamic Planner risk profile's boundaries.

About the Blended Risk Targeted Managed Portfolio Service

Our Blended Risk Targeted ('RT') Managed Portfolio Service consists of five actively managed investment strategies (Blended RT 3-7) that provide lower cost access to our discretionary fund management capabilities through the combination of active and passive collective investments. Each strategy has a different level of risk and expected return, and are rigorously mapped within the volatility boundaries assigned to specific Dynamic Planner risk profiles (RTM 3-7). The service provides a solution that, when cost considerations are paramount, does not compromise on quality.

Investment update

Equity markets were volatile over November however a rally towards the end of the month meant that the global MSCI World Index fell only marginally (by 0.5% in sterling terms). While there was some regional disparity in equity market returns, the most notable dynamic was in the relative weakness of the technology sector and corresponding strength in some of the 'value' end of the market. The UK Budget proved to be less dramatic than feared and the market reaction was somewhat muted, with the FTSE 100 Index ending the month marginally up. The Japanese and continental European markets similarly edged higher whereas Asian markets fell. Economic news from the US was mixed, with delayed retail sales data pointing to slowing consumer spending and the US Federal Reserve's 'Beige Book' highlighting a softening labour market and rising prices. UK inflation fell to 3.6% and, while UK gilts were flat over the month, the Chancellor's intention to reduce gilt supply was seen as positive for UK government bond returns looking ahead. Inflationary pressures have receded to comfortable levels in most regions, allowing central banks to focus on supporting economic growth via cutting interest rates if required. The global economy is expected to grow c.3-3.5% over the next couple of years, with Asia and the US the key contributors, and no recessions are currently expected in major developed economies. Overall, as we think this remains a supportive economic backdrop for equity markets, the strategy remains at the upper end of its corresponding Dynamic Planner risk profile. Corporate earnings growth remains strong, and earnings growth expectations looking into 2026 stand comfortably in double figures across key regions. Valuations are fuller than they were at the start of the year, however this masks some big disparities across sectors and the market cap range. This offers opportunities for skilled active stock pickers, both in traditional equity funds and in the alternative strategy space. A falling interest rate environment and good general corporate health also presents an attractive opportunity set within fixed income.
