Investment objective

To build capital in real (inflation-adjusted) terms over the medium to longer term. Investors should expect reasonable correlation to stockmarket behaviour and rewards, including quite sharp fluctuations in values, but also some protection in times of market weakness.

Risk profile

The strategy is managed with a maximum target of 60% equity market exposure and is categorised as a Bordier Risk Profile 3 and Defaqto Risk Rating 5 (Balanced).

About the Blended Managed Portfolio Service

Our Blended Managed Portfolio Service consists of five actively managed investment strategies, ranging from Defensive to Adventurous, that provide lower cost access to our discretionary fund management capabilities through the combination of active and passive collective investments. Each strategy has a different level of risk and potential return, with risk categorised by equity market exposure that increases in increments of 20% for each strategy. The service provides a solution that, when cost considerations are paramount, does not compromise on quality.

Investment update

After the weakness seen in March, equity markets staged a sharp rally in April. The MSCI World Index rose nearly 9% in local currency terms, 6.4% in sterling terms. Technology stocks performed exceptionally strongly, benefitting US and Asian markets. Returns from markets such as the UK, which has limited exposure to technology and 'growth' sectors, were consequently more muted. News flow regarding the Middle East conflict was periodically more positive however continued uncertainty meant that the oil price rose in April. Improving sentiment over the prospect of a ceasefire in the Middle East therefore seems to have been only partly responsible for the market rally. The other key driver was the very strong set of corporate earnings announcements, particularly from the giant 'hyper-scalers' in the US that are most involved in building out the required infrastructure for artificial intelligence expansion. Concerns over the potential impact of higher energy prices on inflation impacted government bonds in markets such as the UK and Europe however the more positive equity sentiment boosted confidence in corporate debt, benefitting credit markets. We have been rewarded for not cutting overall equity exposure in reaction to the market sell off in March and have consequently captured the sharp rebound over April. While the conflict in the Middle East will certainly impact the shorter-term outlook for growth and inflation, we do not believe that the impact will be sufficient to derail our positive thesis for risk assets. We acknowledge that a very prolonged conflict and disruption to shipping could change the macroeconomic backdrop more materially however, for now, we are maintaining our current equity exposure while the strategy remains at the top end of its allowable equity range. We remain more cautious on fixed income markets, particularly in markets such as the UK and Europe that are most vulnerable to the inflationary impacts of inflated oil and gas prices. We have reduced our exposure and will look to reallocate the proceeds when there is greater clarity on the outlook.
