Investment objective

To preserve capital in real (inflation-adjusted) terms over the medium to longer term (five years plus). Investors should expect low levels of reward and a low correlation to stockmarket behaviour, including modest fluctuations in values.

Risk profile

The strategy is managed with a maximum target of 20% equity market exposure and is categorised as a Bordier Risk Profile 1.

About the Managed Portfolio Service

Our Managed Portfolio Service ('MPS') has been awarded the maximum Defaqto 5 stars as a solution for advisers to manage client assets directly with Bordier UK. The service offers five actively managed investment strategies ranging from Defensive to Adventurous. Each strategy has a different level of risk and potential return, with risk categorised by equity market exposure that increases in increments of 20% for each strategy, and the ability to select an income option to benefit from regular income from the strategy as well as potential long-term capital growth.

Investment update

After a strong April, equity markets pushed higher in May with the MSCI World Index rising a further 5.5% in sterling terms. The rally was supported by some strong earnings announcements and by optimism over the prospect of some resolution in the US-Iran conflict, which sent the oil price more than 10% lower over the month.

Technology and AI-related stocks continued to lead the way. As was the case in April, technology-heavy indices such as the US, Korea and Taiwan again benefitted most and outperformed the UK and eurozone, where economic data continues to disappoint. The Japanese market also performed strongly. In addition to the optimism over some progress in the Middle East conflict, investors were buoyed by some strong economic data suggesting that new prime minister Takaichi's growth policies could be taking effect. CPI inflation rose significantly in the US and eurozone, to 3.8% and 2.8% respectively. UK CPI is also expected to rise further. Despite this, global bond indices produced moderately positive returns in May as optimism remains over some resolution in the Middle East conflict and, looking ahead, an implied lower inflationary impact.

While we are already seeing some economic repercussions stemming from the conflict, we do not currently expect the impact on growth and inflation to be sufficient to derail the global economy or result in a prolonged and major shift in the outlook for interest rates. Equity markets continue to be driven higher by very strong earnings announcements, and valuations do not look overly demanding, which leads us to maintain a positive view on the asset class. The strategy, therefore, remains at the top end of its allowable equity range. Turning to fixed income, we sold our exposure to UK government bonds at the onset of the conflict in the Middle East, given the potential risks to the inflation outlook, and we are currently reviewing the opportunities for reinvesting the proceeds that we have held short term in cash.
